

Battle Losses Takes Just One Slip Are at Seven Month High

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist Command's spring offensive kept American battle losses at a seven-month high for the second successive week with 141 Americans killed in action last week, the U.S. Command reported today.

The toll was three more than the number killed the week before and the highest since the week of last Sept. 1-7, when 143 died in battle.

The number of Americans wounded fell by more than half, from 1,179 the previous week to 457. The decrease was attributed to a decline in the number of rocket and mortar attacks, which had increased sharply as enemy forces began their offensive on April 1.

The Saigon government said 542 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 1,336 wounded last week, compared with 754 killed and 1,716 wounded the week before. Enemy casualties rose to 3,458 killed from 3,366 the previous week, the U.S. Command said.

In battle action Wednesday, U.S. spokesmen said, American fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese mortar positions inside Cambodia after a Vietnamese outpost in Chau Doc Province, in the western Mekong Delta, was hit by several rounds.

The mortar site was destroyed, the Americans said, in the sixth reported retaliatory strike into Cambodia by U.S. planes and artillery this year. The United States and South Vietnam claim an "inherent right of self defense" to attack across the border when their forces are fired on from outside Vietnam.

Allied forces reported killing 333 enemy troops Wednesday, 61 of them in three engagements involving South Vietnamese forces in the Mekong Delta. But 14 Americans were killed and 32 were wounded when a Viet Cong booby trap made from a U.S. artillery shell exploded and triggered further blasts among stockpiled mortar shells.

8 Cent Letter Requested by Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today to raise the cost of mailing a letter to eight cents instead of 10 cents as originally proposed and called for establishment of a new United States Postal Service.

In a special message to Congress, Nixon laid out the terms of an agreement between negotiators for government and the postal unions that couples higher wages with a revised plan to reorganize the Post Office Department.

Nixon also retreated a bit on his 1969 recommendation that the postal service be transformed into a corporation. Instead he said it should be revamped "as an independent establishment" controlled by nine public members of a bipartisan commission who would hire the postmaster general.

The postmaster general would no longer be a member of the Cabinet, under this proposal, said Nixon, "and the postal service would be insulated from direct control by the President, the Bureau of the Budget and the Congress."

A key provision of the agreement which Congress is asked to ratify would give postal workers an eight per cent pay boost, over and above the government-wide increase of six per cent which Nixon signed into law only Wednesday.

Blackmun Held Stock in Three Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has advised the Senate Judiciary Committee that Judge Harry A. Blackmun took part in three court cases involving companies in which he held stock.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said, in a letter to Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that the holdings of the federal appeals court judge were insignificant.

Kleindienst acted Monday in an apparent move to head off any criticism when the committee starts considering Blackmun's nomination to the Supreme Court.

Kleindienst said Blackmun asked the department to submit the record of his financial holdings, biographical data and a review of his opinions while a member of the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Two of the cases involved the Ford Motor Co., 50 shares of whose stock was purchased by Blackmun before he assumed the federal bench at a total price listed as "slightly in excess of $2,500."

In 1960, the department said, Blackmun wrote an opinion in favor of a man who had sued Ford and won a jury verdict of $24,500 only to have the district court set the judgment aside.

Four years later, the letter said, Blackmun upheld a district court which had set aside a jury verdict of $12,500 in favor of another plaintiff against Ford.

The department said the judge also acquired 22 shares of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. stock for about $1,350 in 1963 and 1964 and subsequently took part in a case involving an AT&T subsidiary.

In a 1967 decision, the court of appeals upheld a lower court which had dismissed a complaint against Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.

The court did so on grounds of lack of jurisdiction, noting that the plaintiff alleged he was a citizen of Nebraska and the telephone company was an Iowa corporation. Blackmun and other appellate judges upheld the lower court's ruling that Northwestern was a Nebraska firm, and the case belong in state court.

All it takes is one slip and you're out of work. Flat on your back. Without any income. But, that's where you're wrong.

Social security covers accidents like this with disability benefits. Accidents of any kind, that will keep you from working for a year or longer. The same goes for a serious illness. Any illness.

A young disabled worker, who earned $100 a week on the average, for example, and who has a wife and two children, received $348.80 a month in social security benefits.

Or, suppose you die. From a bad fall. Or any reason. Your social security survivors benefits may provide your family with a steady income. Regular monthly checks until your children are 18. And on to 22, if they're in school.

If you think social security helps when you retire, you're right. But it's also something you can depend on now.

Whenever you need information, contact any social security office.

Jr. It was cold indeed.

"I don't know if we'll be able to sleep up there tonight," he said. "It must be 35 or 40 degrees."

"At the time he said that," said an official who was in Mission Control, "temperature in the cabin was actually 52 degrees. But I'm sure it felt like 35 or 40 to him."

The temperature in the lunar module cabin was not much better—it read 60 degrees at the time. It later rose three degrees, but was still far from comfortable.

The crew told the ground they were going to don extra pairs of coveralls and an official said they also had extra "long john" underwear.

Officials said temperatures in the command module—which is now used only as a bedroom by the spacemen—may drop as low as 40 degrees.

If it becomes this severe, the astronauts could put on their insulated pressure suits.

While the cabin grew frosty, equipment and electronics gear between the cabin wall and the outside spacecraft skin was subjected to bitter cold.

"Toward the end of the mission, we'll see a freeze in the lunar module descent stage and in the service module," said flight director Gerald Griffin, but he added that this would present no problems.

"I don't expect any temperatures close to freezing" for the command module equipment, he said.

Flight controllers powered up the command module briefly Wednesday to check the systems and found all of them working.

Critical components of the command ship were punished in temperatures down to minus 20 degrees when it was being built.

The most delicate of the instruments, the guidance system, was put through this test and lost accuracy of only a few tenths of one degree.

To keep equipment from getting colder than the tested minus 20 degrees, the spacecraft are rolled so that all sides are evenly exposed to sunlight, which is very intense in space.

only about 45 minutes.

Scattered clouds at 2,000 feet and easterly winds at 15 miles per hour were predicted for Friday's splashdown. No rain was expected, a space agency spokesman said.

Waiting to give aid if needed were ships from countries around the world, including the Soviet Union.

The Russians dispatched two ships to the general target area on standby in case the spacecraft splashes down too far from two Jims.

A State Department spokesman said that if assistance is needed from foreign nations, it will be sought through diplomatic channels.

other deep-rear area. Vietnamization, President Nixon's hope of ending U.S. combat activity, might be greatly delayed if there was to be any assurance of Saigon holding out.

There are unpleasant similarities between today's Cambodia situation and that in Vietnam in 1963 after a military coup there, an event which signaled the sharp American escalation. Before then, Americans had been told by President John F. Kennedy that "Communist aggression has been blunted" in Indochina.

Cambodia today is asking for arms, not U.S. personnel. But arms alone failed to help the South Vietnamese, whose situation by 1965 looked hopeless. Cambodia's ragtag little army is hardly any better equipped to face the battle-toughened Viet Cong and North Vietnamese than were the South Vietnamese in those days.

Suppose the Americans refuse to become further involved. Suppose, in fact, the program of phased U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam continues apace, regardless of events in the rest of Indochina. Suppose North Vietnam and its Viet Cong ally wind up dominating both Laos and Cambodia.

Well, for one thing, it would likely get the whole question of Asia and its future back to where it was when the U.S. venture in Vietnam was beginning.

The big fact of political life in Southeast Asia is Communist China, that enormous, sprawling giant whose presence broods over the whole continent. With Communist forces in control of most of Indochina, other nations in Southeast Asia are going to begin worrying about their futures.

If, after all these years, the United States can do no more than protect a relatively tiny enclave in Southeast Asia, perhaps the time will have come for the other nations to accept the inevitable and accommodate themselves to the giant in the north as best they can. In the long run this likely would mean that the American expenditure in Vietnam would have been for little.

PERRYTOWN HOME MAKERS CLUB MEETS

When the Perrytown Extension Homemakers Club met this week in the home of Mrs. Paul Patterson, the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Patterson. She led the group in singing "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and presented the devotion from Proverbs 10:1-31.

Mrs. Eva McKinney read the Thought of the Month, "There is never a Tomorrow, only Today. Get it done now, for Now soon becomes Then." For the eye-opener, Mrs. Aubrey Campbell displayed a pillow, ideal for a teen-ager's room, and a telephone directory cover made of burlap, felt and braid. Mrs. Campbell also voiced a prayer.

The 9 members were joined by 2 guests, Mrs. Flossie Mae Fagan and Mrs. Mildred Fagan. The roll call was answered by each telling "Why I selected the accessories I am using." Mrs. McKinney gave a report on Dental Health.

Vice-president Mrs. Annie Lee Roberts read a poem, "Old Friends." In a discussion of business, Perrytown Park was the main topic. Mrs. McKinney, Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Ayers received gifts from Secret Pals. Congratulations were expressed to Mrs. Ayers, who has recently become the mother of a baby girl.

During the recreation hour, Mrs. McKinney directed a live-

Some Changes in Techniques for Re-entry

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Engineers have developed special re-entry techniques for the troubled Apollo 13. They are being tested in simulators, but officials believe this to be the sequence in the hours before landing on earth.

Six hours before: The astronauts board the command module and begin turning on its power.

Five hours: A course correction is performed if needed.

Three and one-half hours: The service module, which is the disabled part of the spacecraft, is jettisoned.

Three hours: Begin preparation to jettison the lunar module.

Two hours: Seal off the lunar module by closing its hatch and that of the command module.

One hour: Jettison the lunar module.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

FATHERS JUST DON'T UNDERSTAND

Dear Helen: My father! He's a pretty good guy, but he can't understand that teen-age girls just can't live without giggling.

I was doing my homework on the phone with my boy friend, and he said something that struck me funny. When Dad went by he heard me laughing and made me hang up because "That isn't homework!" Really, it was. My grades prove it.

Helen, can you make parents see that you can learn just as well when you're having fun at it?—FED UP SORTA

Dear FUS's FATHER: A teenage girl without a giggle is like a mountain stream without its ripples. Rather than turn off the laughter, parents should hope their children always see the funny side of life.—H.

(P.S. You're welcome, FUS!)

Dear Helen: I am a popular high school senior, a football, basketball and hockey star, so you can see I'm no square.

When the mini-skirts became popular a few years ago, the fellows and I were all crazy for them. Who were we to tell these stupid chicks that they give guys ideas? It didn't take us long to find out that the shorter a gal wore her skirt, the easier she was.

Well, here's my problem. My best buddy and I each have kid sisters who are wearing minis. We hear the guys talking about them and frankly I'm worried.

Don't girls know what fellows really think? I don't want a wife some day who has been the subject of discussion in the gym.

—BIG BROTHER

Dear B.B.: Would you settle for skirts three inches above the knee—or are you a con man for Women's Wear Daily, which is heading up a campaign to bring on the midis? Sorry, friend, I'm not in your camp.—H.

NOTE TO READERS: Keep those mid-votes coming! If you're against the mid-calfskirt, send me your postcard, and I'll forward them to POOFF (Preservation of our Femininity and Finances), opposition headquarters.—H.

Dear Helen: Girls write in a lot and ask you for addresses of overseas Servicemen. They need letters, true, but how about those fellows in veterans' hospitals over here?

These men are badly wounded, sometimes face long months of pain, and they can be awfully lonely.

Why don't some of the girls who want to help find a veterans' hospital and either visit or write the fellows there? I'll bet they could be of use as volunteer helpers too.

Okay?—SARAH

Dear Sarah: Fine idea. Wounded veterans need all the cheering they can get. And hospitals are located in almost every state. Find 'em, girls!—

For Lovely Skin

To keep your skin looking the way you want it to, heat up some of your favorite cleansing cream each night and gently massage it on your face. Always use upward strokes. Leave all the cream on while you bathe and then tissue off the excess, leaving enough to protect your skin from further moisture loss from the surface while you sleep.

Beauty Matches Fashion

Beauty changes its face to match fashions in the '70s. Today's women look more feminine, fragile and delicate—fashion sends us the fragile message: soft fabrics, lots of knits, flowery prints. And beauty begins where fashion leaves off—with translucent skin, gently blushed cheeks, softly colored mouths and softly colored and shadowed eyes.

Verser Named MFA Insurance Agent Here

Freddie Verser of Hope, Ark., has been appointed local agent for the MFA Insurance Companies, home offices at Columbia, Missouri, it has been announced by A.D. Sappington, president.

Freddie Verser succeeds Lynn Murphy as MFA Insurance agent for this area.

"We are glad to enroll Freddie Verser as one of our many agents who now serve the thousands of MFA Insurance policyholders throughout mid-America," Sappington said.

"The objective of MFA Insurance is to provide the best of service and protection to policyholders. The coast-to-coast claim service is quick and friendly."

To enable him to be of maximum service to policyholders Freddie has just completed the career agents training school at the MFA Insurance home office in Columbia, Mo.

He is equipped to handle all types of insurance needs including life, fire and auto.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—It has become something of a cliché that in this age of modern medical marvels it's hard to find a doctor to treat a sore throat.

"We need 50,000 more doctors. We need 200,000 more nurses. At the present rate of training in five years we'll still be 40,000 doctors short," said Irv Drasnin, a CBS News producer.

"Hospital costs have gone up 143 per cent in 10 years. Doctors' fees 50 per cent. The cost to a patient for a day in a hospital is frightfully high," said Gene Deporis, another producer.

These facts, the results of months of research and interviews, will be shown in a three-part CBS Report, "Health in America," to be seen next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, at 10 p.m. EST.

One conclusion they reached, which provides the title for one part of the series: "Don't Get Sick in America."

Deporis, who produced that segment for Tuesday night, said 25 million people in this country have no medical insurance. And those who do are covered only for an average of 36 per cent of their medical bills.

Drasnin, whose segment will be shown Monday, said, "This is the only industrialized nation in the Western world that does not have a national health plan. It seems reasonable to ask whether health care can continue to be a part of the free enterprise system."

This is the fourth year CBS has done a multipart documentary. In 1967 the subject was the Warren Report; in 1968 the cities; and 1969 the generation gap.

"We've found this to be a successful kind of programming because it allows us to take a massive subject and do it in depth," said Burton Benjamin, CBS News executive producer in charge.

On Tuesday night CBS took the long way around to send its Apollo 13 special report to Eng-ple trying to reach that computer.

To still the ringing overnight we dialed "one" and took the receiver off the hook. That produced a recording, an infinitum: "You are dialing the wrong number; please hang up and dial again; you are..."

No interruptions came until 5:30 a.m. with the usual ring of the alarm clock. A bit fuzzy of mind at that hour, I wondered about the apartment, wondering about what sounded like a gurgling noise. Was there a leak some where? No leaks.

Then I remembered. "You are dialing the wrong number..." I replaced the receiver and escaped to the office.

Returning in late afternoon, I was not too surprised to hear the phone ringing. Oh well, I thought, and braced myself.

But the voice on the other end asked for me! It was a phone company representative, and he assured me that all was well.

Upon hanging up, I immediately called my wife at her office. And it worked!

Haywood Sets Record in Scoring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The American Basketball Association, the so-called Lively League, wound up its third regular season Wednesday night with Indiana and Denver, the East and West Division champs respectively, each posting victories.

In addition, Spencer Haywood of Denver set an ABA single game scoring record of 59 points.

The ABA playoffs, for the first four teams in each division, start Friday night. If each of the playoff series goes the full seven-game route, June will be close to busting out before the champion is crowned.

Indiana downed Miami 118-111, New York trimmed Kentucky 123-112, New Orleans defeated Dallas 154-127, Denver beat Los Angeles 152-116 and Pittsburgh thrashed Carolina 132-110.

Los Angeles' loss dropped the Stars from a third-place tie with Washington but the Stars still made the playoffs, finishing a full game ahead of New Orleans, which had led the Western Division for the first half of the season but now will miss the ABA playoffs for the first time.

Here's now the playoffs shape up:
In the East, Indiana plays Carolina and Kentucky duels New York. The West semifinals send Denver against Washington and Los Angeles against Dallas.

Haywood, Denver's celebrated rookie, got his league record 59 points against Los Angeles on 23 field goals and a perfect 13-of-13 from the foul line. He broke the old ABA single game high of 57 points set by Connie Hawkins of Minnesota against the New York Nets on Nov. 27, 1968.

Altogether, Haywood finished the regular season with 2,519 points. He also snared 25 rebounds to become the league's No. 1 rebounder as well as scorer. His rebounds for the regular season were 1,637.

Mike Lewis scored 26 points to lead Pittsburgh over the Cougars. The Pipers wiped out an eight-point deficit after the first period and went ahead for good on Lewis' jump shot in the second quarter at 48-46.

New York rallied from a seven-point halftime deficit to beat Kentucky, the team the Nets meet in the playoffs. New York had 6-foot-9 center Ed Johnson back in action for the first time in two weeks. Johnson, sidelined with a knee injury, came off the bench in the second half, scoring 13 points and grabbing 10 rebounds.

Levern Tart was high for New York while Gene Moore led Kentucky with 28.

The Nets announced their season attendance at home, for 42 games, was 142,832, compared to 42,811 a year ago when the team played 39 home games.

Indiana's defeat of Miami left the Floridians with the worst record in either the ABA or the rival National Basketball Association—61 defeats and only 23 victories. Bob Netolicky led the Eastern Division champion Pacers with 34 points while Don Stidley was high for Miami with 33.

Indiana's Roger Brown and Miami's Don Freeman each reached the 5,000-point career mark—Brown hitting it on the nose with 20 points and Freeman, scoring 23 points, upping his total to 5,012.

Southern S. Hires Coach

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP)—It was announced Wednesday that Jim Canter, head football coach at DeKalb, Tex., High School for the past six years, will join the staff at Southern State College.

Canter replaces Bob Staten who has been made assistant basketball coach in addition to his duties as head baseball coach.

Torrez Great in Cardinal Victory

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
The homer-happy Atlanta Braves have Manager Luman Harris punchy but that's nothing compared to the Kayo Mike Torrez delivered over the Montreal Expos with his arm and bat.

The Braves tagged two more four-baggers Wednesday night, stretching their start of season homer streak to nine games and downing San Diego 7-5. Torrez, meanwhile, limited Montreal to an eighth inning single and stroked three of his own, leading St. Louis to a 10-0 romp over the Expos.

In other National League games Wednesday, Houston edged San Francisco 7-6 in 10 innings, Cincinnati shaded Los Angeles 3-2 and Chicago dropped Philadelphia 5-1. Pittsburgh and the New York Mets had the day off.

In the American League, Boston defeated New York 6-2, Chicago blanked Oakland 7-0 and unbeaten Minnesota whipped California 8-2.

Washington's doubleheader at Baltimore was postponed by bad weather.

Orlando Cepeda tagged three hits including a homer and Cleve Boyer also hit one as the Braves continued their long-ball assault on enemy pitchers. They are four games short of matching the record for homers in consecutive games at the start of a season set by the Chicago Cubs in 1954.

It was an ordinary single by Cepeda that broke the tie against the Padres in the seventh inning. The Bob Priddy came out of the bullpen in the ninth to nall down the victory for George Stone, who gave up two homers to Nate Colbert and one to Clarence Gaston early in the game.

"We're in a rut on home run balls," said Harris, who has seen his team hit 11 homers and his pitchers surrender 13 in the first nine games. "I've seen them hit everywhere, right, center, left, domed stadium, cow pasture, it doesn't make any difference. We must be playing with those 5-X balls."

The Braves may be using the lively ball but Torrez certainly wasn't throwing one at Montreal. The tall Cardinal right-hander gave the Expos nothing until Adolfo Phillips singled in the eighth for Montreal's only hit.

Meanwhile, Torrez cracked three singles and was involved in all of the Cardinals' scoring innings. His hit touched off a four-run third and he drove in a run in the fifth with another single. Then, he was hit by a pitch leading off the eighth and the Card wrapped up the victory with four more runs, three of them on Richie Allen's homer.

It was the 11th straight victory over two seasons for Torrez, a hard-throwing right-hander.

John Mayberry poled a pair of home runs and Houston pushed across a run in the 10th on Jim Beauchamp's single to beat San Francisco. Joe Pepitone also homered for the Astros while Willie McCovey and Dick Dietz connected for the Giants.

Mayberry's three-run shot in the eighth tied the score and then the rookie was hit by a pitch leading off the 10th and moved around to score on hits by John Edwards and Beauchamp.

Bobby Tolan's two-run single capped a three-run Cincinnati rally in the third inning and the Reds held on to edge the Dodgers. Jim Merritt was working on a shutout until the ninth when Andy Kosco jolted a two-run homer. After Wes Parker doubled, Clay Carroll came out of the bullpen to get the final out.

Billy Williams, shackled by an 0-for-19 slump at the start of the season, snapped out of it in a hurry with four straight hits including his 250th career homer as the Cubs beat the Phillies.

Division.
Minnesota will be trying to continue its season of comebacks when it meets St. Louis. The North Stars gained the playoffs with four straight triumphs in the final week of regular season play after a period earlier which saw them win only once in 34 outings.

But the Blues have different ideas. "There's no sense in prolonging it any more," said St. Louis center Phil Goyette.

Pittsburgh and Chicago already have won Stanley Cup quarter-final series, each team wrapping it up in four games. Pittsburgh will meet the St. Louis-Minnesota survivor while the Black Hawks play the winner of the Bruins-Rangers series.

Rookie Is Masterful for Chicago

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer
Gerald Janeski, a scholarly Chicago White Sox rookie who enjoys flying kites as a hobby, did a job on Oakland in grounding the hard-hitting A's on a masterful pitching performance.

The 23-year-old right-hander, obtained from the Boston Red Sox in spring training as a replacement in the Gary Peters deal, stifled the A's Wednesday night for his second straight major league victory and first complete game.

Janeski, a 6-foot-4, 200-pounder, scattered three hits and only walked one while striking out two in the White Sox' 7-0 blanketing of the A's. Janeski, 15-10 with Louisville of the American Association last year, owns two of Chicago's three victories this season.

In the only other scheduled American League games, Minnesota tripped California 8-2 and Boston stopped New York 6-2. The Washington at Baltimore two-night doubleheader was postponed by bad weather.

In the National League, Chicago whipped Philadelphia 5-1, St. Louis bombed Montreal 10-0, Atlanta held off San Diego 7-5, Cincinnati nipped Los Angeles 3-2 and Houston beat San Francisco 7-6 in 10 innings.

Janeski, two days shy of his 24th birthday, beat Milwaukee last Friday in his major league debut.

Wednesday night, the rookie, who says he read about 30 books last year at Louisville and intends to make it 40 this year, got long-ball support from the bats of John Matias, Buddy Bradford and Les Josephson, who each slammed homers, and from a two-run double by Carlos May.

Roberto Pena stroked two of the hits off Janeski—a double in the third inning and a single in the eighth—and Rick Monday had a ninth-inning single.

Janeski, a sinker baller, impressed Manager Don Gutierrez in three spring outings. "I think we've got a pitcher there," Gutierrez said of his kite-flying youngster. "The more I see of him the more I like him."

Janeski figures he got a break when the White Sox obtained him from Boston and the California State College student means to make the most of it. However, he misses former teammate Billy Conigliaro, now with the Red Sox. Conigliaro was his kite flying partner.

"Some people see you flying a kite and they think you're crazy," Janeski says. But who says you can't fly a kite? And anyway, Chicago should be good kite flying territory."

Unbeaten Minnesota, held to one hit through five innings, exploded for eight runs in the sixth off Angels' loser Andy Messersmith. The big inning was keyed by Brant Alyea's grand slam homer, his third blast of the year and 11th run batted in.

The Twins, winning for the fourth time, also got homers from Leo Cardenas and Cesar Tovar. Jay Johnstone connected for the Angels, who lost for the second straight time after five straight triumphs.

Jim Lonborg cracked his second major league home run and checked the Yankees with late relief help from Sparky Lyle in Boston's easy victory.

Lonborg had a three-hit shutout for seven innings before tiring and giving up both Yanks runs.

The Red Sox took a 2-0 edge in the first inning on Carl Yastrzemski's run-scoring single and a sacrifice fly by George Scott and increased it on Gerry Moses' scoring single and RBIs by Yastrzemski and Rico Petrocelli before Lonborg's sixth inning homer.

PITCHING—Mike Torrez, Cardinals, held Montreal hitless for seven innings and then settled for a one-hitter, blanking the Expos 10-0.

Arkansas Game and Fish

LITTLE ROCK—Only a few changes in the areas open to turkey hunters will be in effect for the second spring hunt running from April 18 through April 26 for gunhunters. Since archers have the entire month of April open to turkey hunting, some changes in closed areas will be in effect after April 15.

Areas closed to all hunters—both firearms and bow and arrow—include all of Zones 1, 8, 9, 13, and 19. As an emergency measure, other closed areas include that part of both Prairie and Arkansas counties lying west of Highway 11, south of Highway 70, and north of Highway 79. Turkey hunting is prohibited during the spring hunt on Brandywine Island, all federal refuges and state parks and the Arkansas Post National Monument.

New Area added to closed list are all Game and Fish Commission wildlife management areas except the Muddy Creek area. Only two were closed during the first hunt.

The St. Francis National Forest remains closed to hunters with firearms and is open only to archers. Archers may take two birds at anytime from the forest, and may take either hen or gobbler. Elsewhere, archers may take two birds during the month-long hunt, but may not take hens.

In the areas open to firearms during the final spring hunt, gun hunters may take only one turkey, which must be a gobble.

All hunters, including archers, must check their kills at an authorized check station or with Game and Fish personnel.

Turkey hunters are not permitted to use blinds, mechanical calls, live decoys, bit, or rifles.

FOOD PLOTS POSSIBLY MAKE A DIFFERENCE

MOUNTAIN VIEW—Preliminary results obtained from deer census drives at the Sylamore Deer Study indicated to game biologists that food plots help carry a deer population through the critical food shortage period of late winter.

Recent drives in two enclosures—one with and the other without food plots—indicate that deer suffered greater losses in the Big Spring enclosure that contained no food plots. Other factors which point to the value of food plots is that in years past, when neither the Caney or the Big Spring area contained food plots, the Big Spring herd suffered the lesser die-off. In years of poor mast conditions and severe food shortage, the die-off in Caney was higher.

Now that the die-off in Caney is proportionately less than that of the Big Spring area, biologists feel that the food plots have played a significant role. As a result, according to project leader and game biologist Mitch Rogers, "it is very likely that the deer reproduction this spring will be the largest on record for the study due to the abundance of food through the winter in the Caney enclosure. We are confident that the fawn count this fall will be large and that a record number of fawns will result."

Rogers said that reproduction will not be as good in Big Spring as it will be in the Caney tract. With poor food conditions, the does were not in good breeding condition in every tournament he's played this year.

Billy Casper, who won the 1970 Masters title, is the only other double winner of the year. Casper, also one of the leading contenders for the $25,000 first prize here, also won the Los Angeles Open.

Cage Player Spurns NBA, Signs ABA

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Ard, a 6-foot-8 center from Cincinnati, spurned the National Basketball Association team that drafted him in the first round and signed with an American Basketball Association team that picked him third.

Ard's signing by the New York Nets was announced at a Wednesday news conference.

"Jim was signed to a four-year, no-out contract," said Roy Boe, president of the New York team. "The total package is around $400,000."

The Seattle SuperSonics had made Ard, who was born in the West Coast city, their No. 1 pick, selecting fifth in the NBA collegiate draft last month.

Ard is the first No. 1 draft choice of the NBA signed this season by an ABA team. The ABA, however, had signed such collegiate stars as Kentucky's Dan Issel, Purdue's Rick Mount, North Carolina's Charlie Scott and Davidson's Mike Malloy prior to the NBA draft.

Bill to Ban Unsolicited Credit Cards

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-passed bill banning distribution of unsolicited credit cards through the mails has been shuttled to a House committee which already has indicated it frowns on the practice.

The measure, hailed by sponsors as one of the most important consumer protection proposals before the current session of Congress, swept through the Senate 79 to 1 Wednesday.

Taking it over in the House is the Post Office Committee, which last month approved a bill requiring that unsolicited credit cards be sent by registered mail, thus giving the public a chance to refuse them.

The Senate-passed measure covers all creditors, including banks, retailers, oil companies and airlines.

The Senate measure limits to $50 the liability of any card holder for unauthorized use of his card by another person before he had been able to send notice of the loss or theft.

It also, for the first time, makes it a federal crime for any person other than the holder to use a stolen or lost card.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a chief sponsor of the Senate version, called it a "potent weapon in consumer protection designed to protect the consumer from the nightmare of plastic cards which now haunts him."

He said millions of unsolicited cards now are sent out each year.

Proxmire and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., the other main sponsor, said unsolicited cards led some persons to buy unwisely, increased personal bankruptcies, contributed heavily to price inflation, and invited theft and fraud.

The Federal Trade Commission has issued an order, effective next month, prohibiting distribution of some types of the unsolicited cards.

But it does not cover banks and airlines. Proxmire and McIntyre contend the FTC order thus does not remove the need for their bill.

The Nixon administration at first supported legislation which would have cleared the Senate, but then withdrew this backing.

Later administration officials favored a plan under which cards could be distributed as long as a letter was sent first advising the consumer that a card would be mailed him in 45 days unless he sent word he did not want it.

State Firm Cited for Drug Violation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Federal authorities said they confiscated drugs and narcotics Wednesday from pharmaceutical outlets in Biloxi, Miss., and Fort Smith, Ark., for violations of drug or narcotic laws.

Jerry Jensen, regional director of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, said the seizures were made at the Economy Drug Center, a retail outlet in Biloxi, and the Lakeland Pharmaceutical Co., a wholesale outlet in Fort Smith.

He said more than 31,000 dosage units of dangerous — amphetamines and barbiturates — drugs and narcotics were seized at Biloxi, while some 28,000 dosage units of dangerous drugs were seized at Fort Smith. They would have a total value of more than $16,000 on the illicit market, he said.

Jensen said the action stemmed from investigations that showed violations of federal drug or narcotic laws and regulations, including inventory shortages, improper records and lack of drug security.

In addition, Jensen said, Donald A. Howell, owner of the Biloxi center, was arrested on charges of violations of federal laws next month, prohibiting distribution of some types of the unsolicited cards.

But it does not cover banks and airlines. Proxmire and McIntyre contend the FTC order thus does not remove the need for their bill.

Earthquake Hits Gulf of Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A strong earthquake occurred in the Gulf of Alaska 135 miles southeast of Cordova at 12:33 a.m. EST, the Palmer Observatory reported.

There were no reports of injury or damage.

A spokesman said the tremor's magnitude was 6.2 on the Richter scale. He said that was sufficient to cause damage in a populated area but not large enough to cause a tidal wave.

The quake was about 15 miles south of Yakutat and was felt strongly there and at Yakutat, the spokesman said.

The University of California seismographic station in Berkeley, Calif., measured the magnitude at between 6.5 and 7 on the Richter scale.

Defoliant Discontinued in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of spraying millions of acres in Vietnam, the Pentagon is suspending war use of the controversial defoliant 2,4,5-T.

The move was ordered Wednesday as the departments of Agriculture, and Health, Education and Welfare announced a ban on domestic use of the powerful weed killer around homes, water areas and food crops.

Tests indicated that 2,4,5-T, or Herbicide Orange as the military calls it, caused cancer in laboratory mice injected with the chemical.

Officials said newly available information "indicates that 2,4,5-T as well as its contaminant, dioxins, may produce abnormal developments in unborn animals."

The Pentagon said it has found no evidence the herbicide had caused birth defects among the South Vietnamese but said the HEW-Agriculture decision showed that 2,4,5-T warranted further scrutiny.

Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard ordered a review of the defoliant's use. Officials said 2,4,5-T had, as a matter of policy, been applied only in areas remote from the South Vietnamese population.

Herbicide Orange was the most widely used plant poison in Vietnam last year, accounting for 70 per cent of the herbicides sprayed by planes over the South Vietnamese countryside under an operation code named Ranch Hand.

The mixture has been used primarily to strip thick jungle foliage away from possible hiding places for enemy troops or their supplies.

Each defoliation operation had to be approved by both the government of Vietnam and the U.S. embassy.

Defense officials said it was not immediately clear whether suspension of the use of 2,4,5-T would mean a reduction in the level of spraying operations in South Vietnam. Some officials speculated that there may not be enough of other types of herbicides or defoliants in Vietnam to take up the slack.

State to Sue Plumbing Firms Over Prices

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell's office plans to file an antitrust suit within a few days against "10 or 12" national companies claiming that they conspired to set prices on plumbing fixtures.

Purcell said Wednesday that several other states already had brought action against the plumbing fixture companies. The Arkansas suit will be to recover damages for state, county and municipal institutions, he said.

The attorney general said the Justice Department obtained criminal convictions last May in Pittsburgh against three companies that will be named in the Arkansas suit and three of their executives. The companies are the Borg-Warner Corp. of Chicago, American Standard Corp. of New York and the Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis. They were accused of agreeing to discontinue the manufacture of less expensive plumbing fixtures in favor of more expensive grades.

The other companies that will be defendants in the Arkansas suit were not named by Purcell. He also said there had been no mention of the amount of damages that will be sought.

The suit will be the second handled by the antitrust section of the attorney general's office that Purcell created in 1969. The section, headed by Deputy Atty. Gen. Jerry Pinson, also handled the state's suit charging that five major drug companies sought to fix prices on broad-spectrum drugs.

Purcell has said that Arkansas is to receive $860,831 as its share of the proposed $100 million settlement of claims filed by a number of states. The proposed settlement has been taken under advisement by U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York.

The entrance of the attorney general's office into antitrust litigation is new.

The office first became involved when Purcell intervened in 1967 in a state Highway Department suit that alleged that a number of companies had conspired to fix prices in the sale of asphalt to the state. The state obtained a $1.5 million settlement.

Purcell said in an interview that both the asphalt suit settlement and the proposed drug case settlement were "real fine."

"The history has been that when you have a good antitrust section the money you recover will far exceed the cost of running your office," he said.

"When I leave office, we will have recovered more money than it cost to run the attorney general's office the last four years."

Purcell, who is in his second term as attorney general, has filed, who is in his second term as attorney general, has filed for the Democratic nomination for governor this year.

He said he decided to create an antitrust section in his office after the experience with the asphalt case. Many states with more personnel in their attorney general offices than his staff of 12 lawyers have hired out their antitrust litigation to private attorneys on a percentage basis, Purcell said.

"I decided to accept the challenge myself," he said. "If we could handle the litigation without having to employ outside attorneys the greater the recovery would be for the state."

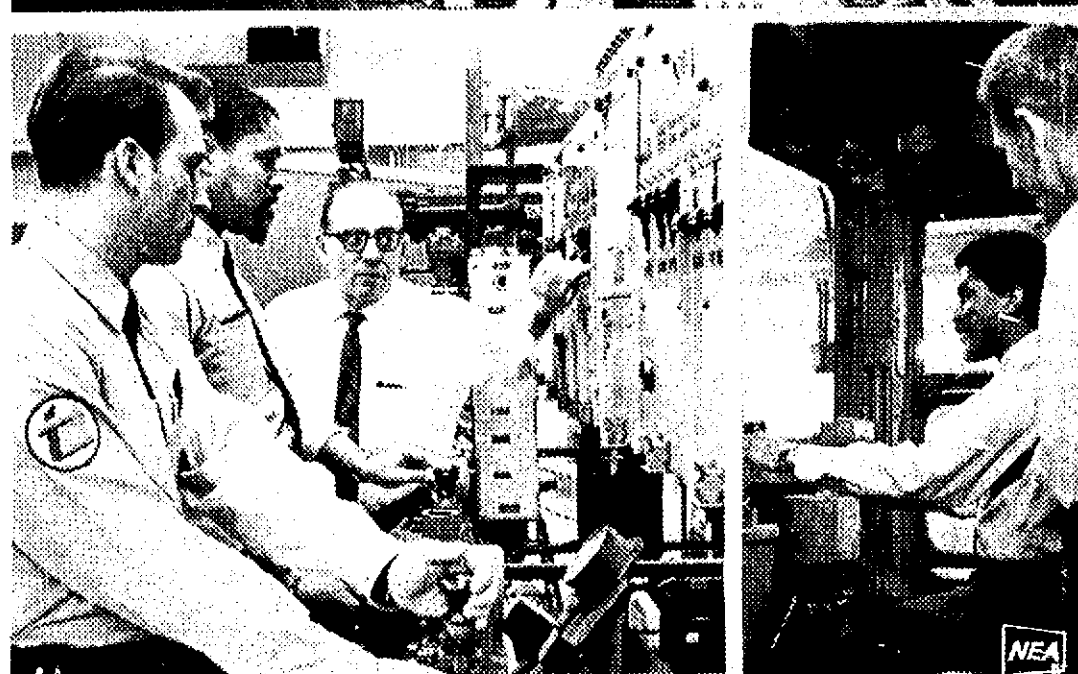

Pinson, 27, has been in the attorney general's office since graduating from the University of Arkansas Law School in 1967. As part of his training to handle antitrust litigation, he attended an antitrust seminar of the Southwest Legal Institute last summer at Southern Methodist University. He is assisted in the section by Asst. Atty. Gen. Don Smith.

Purcell said he anticipated that the importance of the antitrust section would grow and that he would hope the next attorney general would maintain the section.

"Assuming that he would want to continue an antitrust section in the office, I certainly would recommend to the legislature that they cooperate with him to give him the additional funds to operate the section," Purcell said.

"I am hoping the attorney general's office is going to be the strong office in government it should be, it can be and is in other states," he said.

Qualifications
A president of the United States must be a natural-born citizen of the country, at least 35 years of age and 14 years a resident of the United States.

LITTLE BOYS in New York City want to be subway motormen and 3,200 of them may grow up to be just that for that's the number the Transit Authority lists in the job. To become a candidate for the position, a man has to pass extensive written, physical and practical tests. His instruction begins at the Transit Authority's training center, where he learns by operating simulated equipment. At top, an instructor holds class on the tracks, emphasizing safety precautions and warning that switches close with 90 pounds of pressure. Two would-be motormen, bottom left, learn that when you let go of the control handle, brakes go into emergency. At bottom right, a student shows obvious pleasure as he takes controls for the first time while instructor stands by to brief him on piloting techniques.

Aquarius Has Proved to Be Lifesaver

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Aquarius was designed to land men on the moon and return them safely to moon orbit. And that's all. But in the emergency of Apollo 13 it proved itself as a life boat, the sole means of survival for the three imperiled astronauts.

The little craft—cramped for two men, crowded for three—is a fragile specialist.

It can fly only in the vacuum of space. Attempt to fly it in the atmosphere of earth and it would crumple. During launch, the craft must be sheltered from the atmosphere in a chamber of the Saturn rocket.

Aquarius resembles a bug. Its first flying brother, in fact, was named Spider because of the craft's resemblance to one. Spider flew on Apollo 9.

It has long, spindly legs which absorb the shock of landing. It has a rocket engine on its underside which is designed to lower it gently to the moon.

The outer shell of Aquarius is composed of many layers of a plastic-like film which resembles cellophane. This forms a thermal blanket which protects an inner metal shell from the temperature extremes of the moon's surface.

Inside, Aquarius is designed for function, not comfort. Aquarius has no bunks or beds. The Apollo 11 astronauts spent their night on the moon sleeping on the floor. Hammocks were added for Apollos 12 and 13.

The moon lander has enough oxygen, water and power to support two men on the surface of the moon for about 70 hours.

Its supplies are sufficient to take three men and a command module around the moon and back to earth.

To do it, the astronauts were forced to turn off many systems of the craft to save electricity and water.

The lunar module docks to the command module through a collar on its roof. Astronauts board the moon lander from the command module through its ceiling.

Aquarius consists of two sections. The top stage contains the cabin and the engine which lifts astronauts from the moon. The bottom stage contains the descent engine, the one which has brought Apollo 13 back from the brink of disaster.

The engine is unsuited for the job required of it on Apollo 13, but has three times ignited properly and pushed the crippled command ship back on its course toward earth.

Spacecraft experts first thought of the lunar module's possibilities as a lifeboat on Apollo 9.

The lunar module on that flight, Spider, was used to push the command module around in earth orbit and proved that it could be done.

Aquarius will never occupy a place in some museum. It will live in history in memory only. The craft is too fragile to bring back to earth. Discarded just before reentry, it will be torn to pieces and then burn up as it plunges into the earth's atmosphere.

COCKRILL HAS (from page one)

any "deal" or exchange of money involved in his decision to jump to the GOP.

But he said, "I am sure that if I make this move I will have adequate financing... and there will be no strings on the amount of money available to finance a campaign."

When asked to clarify this statement, Cockrill said that his personal experience as a Democrat indicated that he could not expect adequate financial support unless he agreed to perform certain functions that he found disagreeable.

Initially, Britt "started the move to get me to make this jump here," Cockrill said. "He said he arranged for the meeting with Rockefeller after setting it up through a telephone call to Robert W. Faulkner, the governor's executive aide."

Cockrill said he had discussed his thoughts of switching parties with other Democrats and that their reaction was "mixed."

Cockrill is majority leader by appointment of House Speaker Hayes C. McClerkin of Texas.

"I know Hayes McClerkin will be disappointed to learn of this decision without hearing it from me personally," Cockrill said.

He said he had attempted to communicate his decision to McClerkin but had not located him.

Cockrill's attributed his party switch largely to, what he termed, a belief in the two-party system.

"If there is one good thing that has happened in Arkansas politics, it is the development of the two-party system," Cockrill said.

"My decision is to try to help the two-party effort by joining the Republican party," Cockrill said.

He said that news accounts earlier this week had forced him to "hurry up my thinking" but that he had considered the possibility of joining the GOP for about a year, thanks in part to Britt's attempts to persuade him.

Cockrill said that "some years ago I had the opportunity to join with a group of people in the Democratic party and run for lieutenant governor," but he decided not to because Britt held the office and they were friends.

Cockrill said he still would not oppose Britt and added, "I'm not going to oppose Gov. Rockefeller if he decides to run again."

While he has not directly contacted McClerkin to tell him he was resigning as majority leader, Cockrill said he had reached "other friends of mine in the Democratic party" and that some had indicated their feeling toward him would not change "merely because I am changing labels."

Asked if he would be taking other Democrats with him into the Republican party, Cockrill said, "There is a possibility my making this move may encourage others who have been thinking about the same thing."

Some Truckers Are Still on Wildcat Strikes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wildcat strikes by truck drivers in scattered cities across the nation caused mounting layoffs today in industries crippled by the walkouts.

In other labor disputes, teachers remained on strike in Los Angeles, Minneapolis and Muskogee, Okla.

In New York, the mediator in negotiations involving the four major daily newspapers said the talks had "reached a critical stage."

Parts shortages due to the trucking strikes were blamed by American Motors Corp. for announced layoffs of 10,000 workers today and Friday at auto plants in Milwaukee, Kenosha, Wis. and Brampton, Ont.

A General Electric Co. plant in Louisville, Ky., where 3,100 workers already have been idled by the strikes, said 500 more employees would be laid off today.

International Harvester Co. announced in Chicago that 4,500 employees were being laid off at several plants, including 2,500 at a Springfield, Ohio, plant. The company said all plants would be nearly shut down next week if the trucker strikes continue.

Among the cities hit by the trucker strikes were Los Angeles, Cleveland, St. Louis, Akron, Ohio; and Buffalo, N.Y.

The drivers were striking to protest a tentative nationwide contract with provides wage increases of 1.10 over three years. The Teamsters Union is preparing to hold a national referendum on the contract. Drivers currently average $4 an hour.

Some manufacturers predicted the layoffs may reach massive proportions unless a settlement is reached before next week.

In Pittsburgh, major steel producers said a week-long strike by independent steelhewers may force them to shut down operations.

U.S. Steel and other producers made the statement in asking a Pittsburgh federal judge to end the walkout by the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, which claims 10,000 members who lease and drive their own trucks for carrier firms. The union has demanded the right to bargain with the carriers independently of the Teamsters Union.

The continuing teacher strikes concerned issues ranging from wages and class size in Los Angeles to desegregation plans in Muskogee.

The Los Angeles dispute, in which more than half of the city's 25,000 teachers were idle for the fourth day, was termed a "local issue" by Gov. Ronald Reagan. However, Mayor Sam Yorty blamed Reagan and the state for giving "inadequate" financial aid.

Muskogee teachers voted overwhelmingly Wednesday not to return to work until the school board's original desegregation plan is readopted. The plan was withdrawn after the election to the board of Michael Moore, an outspoken opponent of busing to achieve racial balance.

Rigney

Killebrew

PITCHING — Dean Chance is gone, but Dave Boswell (20-12) and Jim Perry (20-6) are a good start. Jim Kaat (14-13) will be rebounding. Twins also have Luis Tiant from Cleveland, who'll hit in somewhere. He had horrendous year in '69, seemed to lose his confidence. Bullpen had Ron Ferraonski, old reliable, and Joe Grzenda, who was 4-1 last season. Add Stan Williams from Cleveland, too. Rating—B.

CATCHING — George Mitterwald hit 257 last year and stays No. 1. Three others also figure. Rick Dempsey, Paul Ratliff and Tom Tischenki. Rating—C.

INFIELD — Harmon Killebrew was MVP last season with 49 HRs, 140 RBIs and 276 average. He'll start at first, but may wind up back at third because nobody else is there. Rod Carew led AL in hitting with 332 average, and stole home nine times with Martin's blessings. Best second baseman in game Leo Cardenas (280) stays or short. Third is problem. The weak link in infield. Frank Quilley will get a chance to start, so will Rick Benick and Rich Reese. Rating—B.

OUTFIELD — Tony Oliva hit 309 last year and is fixture in right. Rest of outfield questionable. Ted Uhlander is gone, leaving center to Cesar Tovar, the super fill-in who hit 288 last year. Aging Bob Allison is still good friends with the owner, but hit only eight homers last year. Even Galia Griffith is wondering if he can cut it every day. Rating—C.

TOP ROOKIES — Ratliff, up from Charlotte, could be No. 2 catcher and may even be tried in outfield. Good hitter. Pitcher Bert Blyleven will also get hard look.

Prediction: 2nd in AL West

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What day is held sacred by the Moslems?
A—Friday. On Friday, which for Moslems resembles the Jewish Sabbath and Christian Sunday, Moslems are expected to attend noon prayers at a mosque.

Q—How many legs does a lobster have?
A—Five pairs of jointed legs. Four pairs are thin and the lobster uses them for walking. The fifth pair, which extends in front of the head, is thick and ends in large claws.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Pregnancy Can Occur Without Hymen Break

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Is it necessary for the hymen to be broken for pregnancy to occur? What determines whether pregnancy occurs after intercourse?

A—The hymen need not be broken for pregnancy to occur if sperm are discharged near the opening through which menstrual blood flows. For pregnancy to occur, active sperm reaching the vagina must enter the uterus and unite with an ovum. The ovum, discharged about midway between menstrual periods, passes through the uterine tube, uterus and, if not fertilized, through the vagina in two or three days, after which no pregnancy can occur until ovulation takes place again. Even if a sperm and ovum unite, pregnancy will not occur if anything interferes with the implantation of the fertilized ovum in the wall of the uterus.

Q—Is it possible to have a menstrual period and still be pregnant?

A—In rare instances, a scanty menstrual period may occur once after the onset of pregnancy. Any further bleeding should be regarded as a complication requiring prompt treatment.

Q—Can an unborn child breathe inside the mother? How does the baby use the mother's blood?

A—A fetus does not breathe because, if he did, his lungs would fill up with amniotic fluid. The lungs do not function until after delivery. The exchange of oxygen for carbon dioxide that is accomplished in the lungs after birth is done for the fetus by the mother's blood.

Q—How often does a fetus move in the uterus?

A—The first signs of movement by the fetus (quickening) occur between the 18th and 20th week of pregnancy. Once these movements have started, they occur many times a day but are not always felt by the mother.

Q—Is it true that, when a man is more than 10 years older than his wife, there is no possibility of having children? Is it true that a man born under Virgo cannot produce sperm?

A—So long as a man is not impotent and his sperm are active, age has no bearing on his ability to become a father. Virgo is too far away to influence the development of sperm in a man born under any sign.

Arkla Cutoff Case Before State PSC

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Kitty Hibbs heads a fight she says is aimed at bringing about reforms in the way utility companies treat their customers.

The 5-foot-7 mother of two has been before the Public Service Commission in one case, which is pending, and plans to help others who have complaints.

"The utilities have a cold, callous attitude," she said.

That attitude, she said, was among the factors that impelled her to go before the PSC with a complaint against Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. after a snafu last December over her gas bill.

Mrs. Hibbs, whose husband, David, is an automobile mechanic, has dipped into PSC records to find others who have complained previously about utility company actions.

"We're writing them to see if we can help them," she said. Thus far, about 100 letters have been set to individuals whose complaints show up in PSC files, and more letters will be written, said Mrs. Hibbs.

Her complaint developed soon after she and David moved to Little Rock from Malvern.

Mrs. Hibbs, 25, told the PSC that last December she wrote a check to pay her gas bill.

However, a notice from her bank indicated that the checks she had written were more than the amount in her account.

"I visited the bank more than twice trying to find out which checks were written on insufficient funds," she said.

Her gas bill payment was $10. Another $10 check had been written.

Arkla's attorney, Charles Baker, pointed out in the PSC hearing that Mrs. Hibbs made no effort to contact Arkla and explain that she would pay the bill as soon as she could straighten out her situation with the bank.

Then, one day last January, Mrs. Hibbs took her husband to work, came home, turned up the gas heater and found later that the gas had been cut off. The temperature, she said, was 35 degrees.

No Arkla employee had contacted last December she wrote "service," she said, and when she found the company employee outside the apartment building where she lives he gave her no cooperation.

Mrs. Hibbs said she contacted Arkla the same day and was told she would have to pay the $10 plus a $3.50 reconnection fee, and, in frustration, she did so. The gas was restored about 5 p.m. that day, she said.

Now Mrs. Hibbs and her husband, plus some friends, form the nucleus of a "loosely organized, grassroots movement" to prevent such things from happening to others.

She emphasizes that she had the money to pay her bill and would have gladly done so if given the opportunity. "Errors in the bank kept me from clearing the matter up in time," Mrs. Hibbs said. "And yet I lost gas service, I had to pay the penalty because of the company's attitude."

Arkla is not alone as the target of the movement, she said. "I've talked to many people

Hearty Chuck 'n' Potatoes

It's brainracking to devise ways to sneak nutrition into family meals with finicky teen-age eaters at the table.

A hearty chuck 'n' potatoes dish is a simple way to do this.

The dish is especially good now that harbingers of spring will have the youthful athletes outdoors more. Chuck 'n' potatoes also makes an acceptable dish for teens just beginning to entertain friends with a relaxing buffet.

CHUCK 'N' POTATOES
2 pounds ground chuck
1 large onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
4 large potatoes, peeled and diced

1 package (9 oz.) frozen cut green beans, cooked and drained
1 can (16 oz.) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon Angostura aromatic bitters
Salt and pepper, to taste
6 eggs

Saute chuck until brown and crumbly. Drain excess fat. Add onion and continue cooking until onions wilt. Add all remaining ingredients except eggs. Simmer over low heat until potatoes are tender. Spread mixture into a greased 9x13-inch baking pan. With the back of a spoon make 6 hollows in the meat mixture. Drop eggs into hollows. Season eggs with salt and pepper. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until eggs are set. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Chuck 'n' potatoes dish is nutritious.

Congress May Get Stronger Postal Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is reported to get an even stronger postal corporation proposal than it had before the mail strike—and already is mapping strategy to kill it.

Administration and postal union negotiators have reached basic agreement on a postal reform plan a knowledgeable source says "will be a little harder for the unions to swallow" than the corporation plan approved by a House committee last month.

The agreement, tying an 8 per cent pay boost for postal employees to the reform, is to be submitted to President Nixon for transmittal to Congress as soon as union and administration lawyers are convinced the technical language says exactly what they want.

The 8 per cent boost for postal employees effective next July would come on top of the 6 per cent across-the-board pay increase passed by Congress Tuesday.

Corporation has become a bad word to influential congressmen and the proposed agency would not be given that name. Nor would it be called a U.S. Postal Authority as proposed before the mail strike.

It may even keep the present name: Post Office Department.

The agency will reportedly take the nation's mails from the control of Congress and put them under the direction of an independent management board that would appoint its own postmaster general.

The independent agency would set its own postal rates to put the mails on a self-paying basis, sell bonds to finance modernization and negotiate wages and benefits with its workers subject to binding arbitration if necessary.

One important change is that no congressmen would be on the management board as the unions wanted.

Prospects for congressional approval of the new proposal are poor.

The Senate Post Office Committee is working on an alternative plan that would give the Post Office Department more management control over its operations but still keep them under the reins of Congress.

House leaders who favor the Senate noncorporation approach reportedly plan to let the Senate approve its version before amending the House bill calling for establishment of a corporation.

Amending the bill to conform with the Senate version, they feel, would effectively block efforts to pass the committee-approved corporation plan.

Water That "Burned"

Alexander the Great, in his travels through the Persian Gulf area and Mesopotamia, heard tales of a kind of "water" that seeped from the ground and burned. He tested the story by pouring the strange liquid over a boy, then igniting him with a torch. Today, the area's chief product is petroleum.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

By DALA MCKINSEY
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Nothing about a suspected forged document escapes the attention of Lt. Howard Chandler, the document analyst for the State Police.

Chandler inspects the paper, the ink and the handwriting. He even checks the paper for fingerprints, if the paper has not been handled by several persons, such as in the case of a check.

He can tell the brand of the ink in a fountain pen and can analyze a ball-point pen by checking the ink and point size.

A lead pencil always leaves a trace, even when it is erased," Chandler said. He says the graphite works itself into the paper, until a portion cannot be removed.

As for the handwriting, Chandler maintains that it is an habit, an extension of the mind, and that certain personal characteristics always show up in forged handwriting.

He pulled two samples from his files of handwriting from a suspected forger, and showed that while the forger had attempted to disguise his handwriting, certain characteristics, like the way he crossed his "t" or made a loop in a "d", were present in the writing samples.

Chandler said a man's handwriting always changes and is never the same—even his signature. But Chandler says it is because handwriting is a habit and shows certain characteristics of an individual that a forger can be determined.

He said a tracing of a signature is one of the easiest methods to spot a forgery, because a man's signature is never exactly the same.

It is also easy to detect a forger who merely alters his own handwriting style because he carries certain characteristics with him in the new style.

Drawing a signature is also easy to spot, Chandler says, because the pressure in the signature is even and the end of the name ends abruptly rather than naturally "feathering off." Chandler said that in natural handwriting the upward stroke is hard and the downward stroke is soft. If the signature is being drawn, there is no indication of a change in pressure.

The lieutenant illustrated a common forgery practice that is hard to detect except by an expert.

The forger rubs a piece of oily butcher paper over a signature until the ink has transferred the signature backwards to the butcher paper. The forger then puts the butcher paper with the signature on a blank check, rubs until the signature is transferred and then fills in the total and date.

To eliminate the oily residue left on the new signature, the professional will remove the oil with a gum eraser.

In one case, Chandler said a forger's handwriting did change drastically but he attributed the change to the use of drugs.

Chandler said the man convicted of the forgery had been taking amphetamines to stay awake at night while he drove a truck. He said the day before a bank robbery in Northwest Arkansas the driver's handwriting altered radically. Chandler theorized that the use of drugs, which he said the driver was taking by "the hand-fuls," altered his personality and his handwriting.

Forged checks are not the only documents Chandler inspects. He also analyzes suicide notes, wills and threatening notes.

He also spends an average of one day a week in court, testifying as an "expert" witness. However, he says that after he makes positive identification in most cases the forger pleads guilty.

But his work is not confined to handwriting alone.

He also studies typewritten articles and can determine if a document has been reinserted in a typewriter with something added.

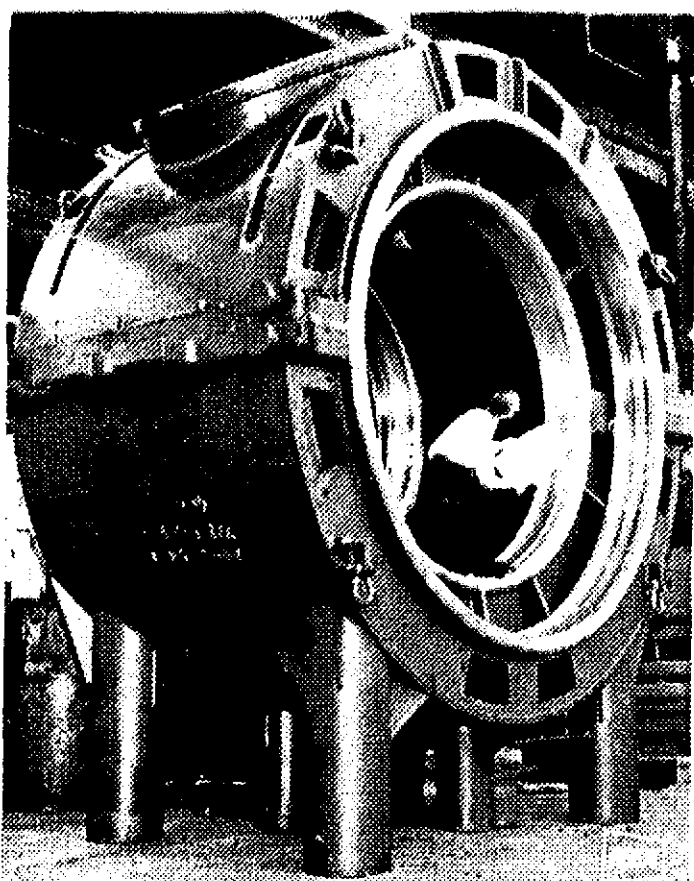

"The lines are always out of alignment if the document has been reinserted," Chandler said.

Chandler said he can usually tell what make of typewriter has been used, but said that typewriter "balls" were "impossible" to analyze.

Chandler has been running the one-man document analysis department for the State Police for 15 years.

Prior to that, the North Carolina native had worked as a law enforcement officer in Conway while going to school.

He became interested in document analysis while working

Strikes Still Trouble Some Industries

Wildcat strikes by truck drivers in scattered cities have caused increased layoffs and an embargo on some piggyback freight rail shipments to Chicago. Teachers remained on strike in Los Angeles and Minneapolis. But an air traffic controllers strike was reported virtually ended.

The trucker strikes were blamed by nine railroads for an embargo they imposed today on piggyback freight shipments to many Chicago companies. However, a Chicago Teamsters union official termed the embargo an attempt by the railroads to help the trucking industry break the truckers' walkout.

Layoffs due to the walkout, already in the thousands, were reported increasing in industries which lacked parts or were plagued by jammed warehouses.

Cities hit by the trucker strikes included Chicago, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio and Cherryville, N.C.

The striking truckers were protesting a tentative nationwide contract providing wage increases of $1.10 an hour over three years.

Teachers union officials in Los Angeles claimed that more than half the city's 25,000 teachers have joined a strike now in its third day.

They were demanding that the nation's second largest school system give them increased wages and smaller classes.

Teachers in Minneapolis, striking for similar demands, have been out since April 9.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported today, "There are no problems at any facility in the country."

Air travel began returning to normal Tuesday as hundreds of striking controllers reported back to work. The FAA said the manpower level was normal or near normal in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and most other spots around the country.

Heavy absenteeism continued at Kansas City, Minneapolis, Denver and Oakland, Calif.

The controllers struck to protest what they called inadequate manpower, obsolete equipment and "union busting" by the FAA.

70 French Boys Buried by Avalanche

SALLANCHES, France (AP) — Seventy persons — most of them tubercular boys under the age of 15 — were feared dead today, buried under a massive avalanche that swept down on them as they slept.

The Ministry of Interior reported rescuers had found only nine bodies 11 hours after the wall of rock and snow — 60 feet and high and 600 feet wide — roared down in the darkness on two dormitories and a nurses' residence at a tuberculosis sanatorium.

"There is no hope of anyone surviving under that mass of snow and earth," said one police lieutenant as hundreds of rescue workers dug with picks, shovels, cranes and bulldozers.

The huge slide also smashed into one wing of the sanatorium's main building, but 14 children and three adults in that section were rescued unhurt.

Helicopters flying over the area 25 miles southeast of Geneva reported that a second great mass of snow was perched dangerously on the adjacent mountain side.

Everyone Has Trouble With Telephones But Nothing Like This

By RAY KOHN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Computer speaking."

That became the "programmed" response of my wife and me one day and evening as a stream of calls — never more than minutes apart — inundated our telephone.

But that isn't the story. As I entered our apartment one day the phone was ringing. I raced for the receiver.

A male voice said, "Chicago calling; who is this?" "Whom did you have in mind?" I asked.

"I'm calling the computer," said the man. "Is this, . . . and he rattled off some digits, I said, 'Wrong number, sorry.'"

In about 10 seconds the phone rang again and the same voice asked for "El Computer." He was most apologetic.

Another 30 seconds, and "brrrrring." This time I took my cue: "Computer speaking." Silence.

A few more rings, a few more hangups. More rings — still immediately when a human voice answered. Who needs humans when you're calling a computer?

Then a call from a young lady, who identified herself as an employee of a computer service. She apologized and asked me to take down two numbers to which I could refer her customers.

Then my wife arrived and, into the evening, we shared the answering chores.

As it turned out, we could call outside numbers but no one could reach us, except the police.

The U.S. Simply Can't Win Either Way in the Cambodia Dilemma

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

So far as Cambodia is concerned, the United States is damned if it does and damned if it doesn't. The Nixon administration is in a position in which anything it does now can, later on, be judged to have been wrong.

If, as Cambodia asks, the United States supplies arms to the new coup-born regime, it risks widening war in Southeast Asia. If it does not, it risks so sharp a change in the Southeast Asia climate as to impel other nations to make whatever peace they can with Asia's Communists. The United States will be, in many Asian eyes, the paper tiger Mao Tse-tung has always said it is.

Yet when Washington weighs the pros and cons of responding to the new Cambodian regime's plea, it must be acutely aware of the memories this will evoke of how the South Vietnam involvement developed. Surely there will be cries of "Here we go again!"

President Nixon is finding that Indochina's conflicts are self-escalatory. Rapidly deteriorating situations in Laos and Cambodia, both now invaded by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, pose a formidable threat to efforts to scale down the American role in neighboring South Vietnam.

If invasion can turn Cambodia into a pliant Communist satellite, South Vietnam will be outflanked and menaced from another side.

Cockrill Has Joined the Republicans

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. Sterling R. Cockrill Jr., Democratic majority leader in the House, said today that he would run for lieutenant governor or governor as a Republican unless the two Republican incumbents in those offices seek re-election.

Cockrill, 45, of Little Rock confirmed at a news conference reports of his defection from the Democratic party to the GOP. He said his decision was made Wednesday night, but that he conferred about the matter last Friday at Winrock Farm with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt, friend and next-door neighbor to Cockrill, attended the packed news conference held by Cockrill in a Little Rock hotel.

Cockrill said he had been an "independent" Democrat and would be an independent Republican. The change in parties does not signify a change in his political philosophy, he said.

Cockrill first stated flatly that he would run either for governor or lieutenant governor on the GOP ticket and would not seek a lesser statewide office. But after Cockrill said he would oppose neither Rockefeller nor "my good friend and neighbor" Britt, newsmen asked if he knew definitely that either Britt or Rockefeller or possibly both would not seek third terms.

"No," Cockrill answered. "If Gov. Rockefeller and Lt. Gov. Britt seek re-election I would have to seek a lesser statewide office."

Cockrill denied that there was

Showers Are Predicted for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Weather Bureau is predicting spring showers and mild temperatures for Arkansas today and tonight.

There is the possibility of a few scattered thundershowers expected to develop around this afternoon and evening, but these are expected to be mainly in the southern portion of the state.

Friday's forecast is for mild temperatures and cloudy skies. Highs Wednesday ranged from 75 at Memphis to 67 at Fayetteville.

One Dead in P.B. School Shootout

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Police Chief L. E. Reed of Pine Bluff says charges will probably be filed today in connection with a shootout at Col. man High School that left one person dead and five others wounded.

Officers said the gunplay occurred Wednesday when six young men invaded the Coleman cafeteria at noon and exchanged shots with a student. Reed said Wednesday that several persons were being held for questioning and that others were being sought.

Authorities said Eugene Thomas, 20, of Pine Bluff, was killed and that Larry Fitzgerald, 20, also of Pine Bluff, was in critical condition. Officers said Thomas was one of the six who opened fire.

Officers said that, in addition to Fitzgerald, three other young men and a young woman were hospitalized with gunshot wounds. They were not identified.

One female student suffered a broken arm while running from the scene.

Authorities said a sawed-off single-barrel .12-gauge shotgun and a .38-caliber pistol was seized. "We know that there were more, but we have not yet located them," said Captain John Glover.

Officers said they found no indication of racial overtones and that the motive for the shooting had not been established. They said all of the injured and the persons being held were Negroes.

Reed said the six gunmen apparently were after an unidentified student. He said they chased the student into the cafeteria where other students were waiting in line for lunch.

Reed quoted witnesses as saying the invaders and the student exchanged fire.

The student escaped, and the remaining attackers went outside to a car, got shotguns, returned to the cafeteria and began firing at random, police reported.

Disabled Spaceship on Course, Faces One More Critical Period

Temperatures Near Freezing in Spaceship

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Temperatures were near freezing in the Apollo 13 spacecraft today. It was uncomfortable for the astronauts but the cold was not expected to harm them or cause further damage to their disabled craft. The command ship Odyssey has been slowly chilling since the astronauts shut off the power to save electricity after Apollo 13's emergency developed Monday night.

Apollo 13 commander James A. Lovell Jr. noticed it first.

He awoke shivering out of a deep sleep in the darkness of the command module Tuesday.

Superb insulation kept the command ship fairly warm for more than a day, but then the supercold of space, where the temperature of objects shaded from the sun may drop to minus 250 degrees Fahrenheit, began creeping into the craft.

Storm Scare Eases for Re-entry

By VERN HAUGLAND

ABOARD USS IWO JIMA (AP) — A tropical storm in the South Pacific has dissipated and poses no threat to the troubled Apollo 13 astronauts, the space agency said today.

Tropical Storm Helen earlier appeared to be plodding toward the splashdown site southeast of Samoa but space officials in Houston and weather observers elsewhere said it had broken up.

At one point earlier in the week this ship's forecasters said the storm could have grown into a hurricane.

Helen or its side effects provided frogmen with rough weather training Wednesday on their final recovery exercise.

Swim teams worked in a driving rainstorm and said they were ready for the astronauts' return.

"We wanted a rough weather simex," said one helicopter pilot. Simex means simulated exercise.

Despite downpours that cut visibility to less than three miles at times, waves were moderate. The exercise took

AP News Digest

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Barring a major problem, the crippled Apollo 13 spacecraft faces only one more critical period—the hours before re-entry Friday. After determining Wednesday that the craft was on a course that would miss the earth and carry it irretrievably past the earth, space center personnel and the three Apollo 13 astronauts planned and successfully executed a short course-correcting firing of the lunar module's engine and returned the ship to a path ending in the South Pacific.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. streaked toward a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean after an engine firing Wednesday night shifted them off a course that would have left them stranded in space.

With the veteran Lovell at the controls, they triggered their lunar module engine 15 seconds and successfully changed course. Had that firing and later course corrections failed, Apollo 13 would have missed earth by 104 miles and skipped off into space.

With that hurdle cleared, the spacemen turned all attention to Friday's re-entry and landing, scheduled for 1:07 p.m. EST.

Using flashlights to find their way in the dark and chilly cabin, the astronauts checked the three batteries in the command ship that will provide the power for the blazing dive through the atmosphere. They found two of them at full 40-amp-hour strength, but the third with only about half that power available.

On a normal re-entry, they would require 70 to 80 amp hours. So Mission Control told them to "hook up a cable to the power system of the lunar module and recharge the weak battery. This process will take about 15 hours and draw eight amps from the LM.

Although the temperatures in the command ship, which was drawing oxygen from the sturdy LM, were down around 50 degrees, flight director Gerald Griffin said the craft's systems all appeared to be in good shape.

The pressures and temperatures in the plumbing system looked fine," he reported. "Two of the thrusters have temperatures low enough so we'll have to heat them before pressurizing the system. But all these temperatures are going to rise when we apply some power to the command module with the batteries. The whole command module looks good," he said.

The command ship was disabled Monday night by an oxygen tank rupture in the attached service module. The accident knocked out fuel cells which would have provided long-life power. Without the cells, the moon landing had to be canceled and the astronauts turned to the lunar module supplies to keep them alive and bring them home.

Barring a major problem, the next critical period will be in the hours before re-entry Friday.

Before re-entering the atmosphere the astronauts must discard two sections of their space train—a powerless service module and the lunar module which has been their life-saver since the command ship was crippled by an oxygen tank rupture Monday.

Then they must power up the now dead command ship with auxiliary batteries before making the blazing dive back to earth and splashdown in the Pacific at 12:53 p.m. EST Friday.

A team of Mission Control Center specialists has been working around the clock to perfect the highly technical details for bringing the spacemen back from the brink of disaster.

World Held Its Breath During Time

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts recharged a weak battery and prepared other systems in their command ship today for the unique and critical maneuvers needed to bring their crippled craft back to earth Friday.

House Gets Douglas Ouster Resolution

By ROBERT HUNT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An impeachment resolution and call for a special investigation of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas have reached the House in the wake of charges the 71-year-old jurist may be unfit for his post.

House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford touched off a vitriolic, parliamentary wrangle Wednesday night after asserting Douglas may be unfit to serve as a justice because of questionable outside interests and possible associations with underworld figures.

Ford threw his support to creation of a special House committee to study the Douglas case to see if there is cause for impeachment.

Under terms of a resolution proposed today, the special investigative panel would be required to submit its report in 90 days.

When Ford finished his speech, Rep. Andrew Jacobs of Indiana, a liberal Democrat, said the GOP leader had a duty to file an impeachment resolution since he "has stated publicly that he favors impeachment of Justice Douglas."

"Since he (Ford) refuses to do so and since he raises grave questions, the answers to which I do not know, but every American is entitled to know," Jacobs told the House, "I introduce at this time the resolution of impeachment in order that a proper and dignified inquiry into this matter might be held."

Jacobs' resolution was referred to the House Judiciary Committee, headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

"It is obviously triggered by the defeat of Judges (G. Harold) Carswell and (Clement) Haynsworth," said Celler of Ford's attack.

HEMS AND HERS: Fashions in stewardess garb have kept up with the times, as shown by hemlines of uniforms worn by stewardesses over the last four decades. The uniforms (from left) were introduced in 1930, 1941, 1951 and 1968 (current). This year marks the 40th anniversary of stewardess service, started by Boeing Air Transport, a pioneer division of United Air Lines.

Today's hand appeared in our column back in January. When the hand was actually played West was allowed to hold the first trick. He continued hearts. South ruffed and promptly played out ace and another spade since the game was rubber bridge. He lost the club finesse later on and still made his game.

We pointed out that if East had won the first trick and led back a diamond he would have been able to ruff a diamond and defeat the contract.

PFC John Uhlmann who is on his way to Vietnam wrote us that South could still make his hand by means of a criss-cross squeeze and he is right. We don't like to make mistakes but we do on occasion and this crisscross squeeze is interesting enough to show our readers.

The early play will be a heart, a diamond, two spades, a diamond ruff and a second heart. South will now play all but one trump to leave himself with one diamond, one trump and three clubs. Dummy will hold two hearts, two high diamonds and the ace of clubs. East will hold two hearts and three clubs while West can hold anything he wants to but he won't be taking any tricks.

Now South cashes dummy's two diamonds and discards his small club. Every one is down to three cards. If East blanks his ace of hearts, South ruffs a heart and makes the last two tricks in dummy. If East blanks his king of clubs, South cashes dummy's ace, ruffs a heart and makes the last trick with the queen of clubs.

We don't consider our failure to point out the squeeze as much of an error. At the table most players would take the simple play of trying the club finesse and go down one, but as PFC Uhlmann points out the hand could be made by this interesting method.

Cambodia Knows Nothing About Bodies

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A Cambodian Army spokesman said today he knew nothing about the hundreds of Vietnamese bodies seen in the Mekong River southeast of Phnom Penh for the past two days. But he said the killing of Vietnamese civilians in Cambodia "could be considered punitive actions because of Viet Cong attacks in Cambodia."

"If Vietnamese go with the Viet Cong they must take the consequences for this is our country," Lt. Col. Kim Eng Kouroudeth told newsmen at the inauguration of regular military briefings by the leaders who overthrew Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

The colonel said Vietnamese are being rounded up for security checks, and "we will take measures against the other Vietnamese to insure they remain quiet. It is not racial, it is just a precautionary move."

Another 30 Vietnamese bodies floated this morning past the Mekong River ferry point at Neak Leung, 50 miles down the river from Phnom Penh. Like the hundreds that passed there Wednesday, the bodies had bullet wounds in several places and the hands of many were bound.

Nobody would say where the bodies came from. But foreign sources in Phnom Penh said an estimated 600 Vietnamese men had been arrested early Monday in the village of Xon Bien, near the Cambodian capital, loaded on boats and taken away.

Cambodian military sources at Neak Leung said 200 Cambodian troops were trapped on the Mekong banks farther south near the frontier, and South Vietnamese helicopter gunships, ground troops and tanks had pushed across the border in an attempt to help the Cambodian troops.

This was the first report that South Vietnamese troops are operating in that part of Cambodia, west of the Plain of Reeds. Previous cross-border operations have been reported in the Parrot's Beak area some 70 miles to the east.

39 Witnesses Called for My Lai Trial

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House panel has subpoenaed 39 military witnesses in its probe of the alleged My Lai massacre after Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor refused to allow them to testify voluntarily.

Resor told a special House armed services subcommittee he feared the investigation will prejudice the rights of defendants in the case and urged a delay until courts martial of those charged are completed.

But Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the panel, said Congress and the public have the right to "an independent study with conclusions independently arrived at."

Among the witnesses who testified at the closed hearing Wednesday was Capt. Ernest L. Medina, who is charged with responsibility for at least 106 civilian Vietnamese deaths at the My Lai hamlet March 16, 1968.

F. Lee Bailey, Medina's attorney, accused Resor and the Army of issuing six countermanding orders Tuesday for Medina to defy his subpoena—and at one point had Medina on

Prison Plan Reasonable, Judge Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley said Wednesday a state Board of Correction report was evidence of a "prompt and reasonable" start toward elimination of prison operations he found unconstitutional Feb. 18.

The report concerns the board's plan for upgrading the state prisons.

Henley, however, ordered the board to submit additional reports on questions he raised about specific operations.

He said steps should be taken immediately to properly supervise the yard and barracks of Cummins Prison Farm on a 24-hour basis. The board said it could begin employing additional supervisory personnel after July 1.

Henley also said he had continued to receive inmate complaints about conditions in isolation cells and asked the board to report on the isolation cells. A report on sanitary conditions in the cells and the number of men who occupy them was also requested by Henley.

He set May 10 as the deadline for filing a report dealing with the questions he had raised. He also requested, by July 10, a full report of progress that had been made up to June 30 at both the Cummins unit and the Tucker Intermediate Reformatory.

Henley said he wanted the information to determine what the board had been able to accomplish prior to the release of about $2.3 million in new money appropriated for the prisons by last month's special legislative session. The money will become available July 1.

Henley's Feb. 18 ruling said the state prisons have been operated in a way that constitutes cruel and unusual punishment, which is prohibited by the U.S. Constitution. The board, following Henley's instructions, filed an interim report April 1 on what it planned to do to bring the prisons up to "constitutional tolerability."

Henley has given the state until about September 1971 to carry out its reforms.

Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell has appealed Henley's decision to the 8th U.S. District Court.

Henley said the court was "most pleased with the response of the governor and of the legislature to the fiscal needs of the penitentiary and has no reason to believe that the institution will not be adequately funded in the future, taking into consideration, of course, the overall financial conditions of the state."

The board had said the action of the legislature would permit the hiring of enough free-world employees to assume control of "critical" jobs that have been held by trustys. The judge had ruled that trustys could not hold jobs in which they supervised other inmates.

Henley criticized the board for failing to move immediately to properly supervise the yard and prison barracks.

"That will not do; it is small comfort to a barracks inmate to know that he may expect to be reasonably safe at some time after July 1 if that safety depends on his being able to live that long," Henley said.

"... This court simply cannot believe that with the force presently available, including armed trustys who are presumably still obedient to the commands of free-world people, respondents cannot preserve order in the barracks and in the yard and prevent murderous assaults on inmates."

Henley said the board seemed "to continue to acquiesce in the proposition that inmates cannot be disarmed effectively."

"It may be true that at the present juncture it is difficult to disarm every one of the inmates, except those authorized to be armed, and to keep every one of them disarmed," the judge said. "It does not follow, however, that the condition that now exists needs to be tolerated."

He said he presumed the inmates "most likely to engage in physical violence directed at other inmates make up a decided minority of the prison population" since the board claimed the "great majority" of inmates were minimum or medium security risks.

Henley said that at the least a search for arms would require some time for the inmates to surreptitiously rearm themselves "and vigilance could make this task ... more difficult."

AWOL status—before deciding early Wednesday morning to let him testify.
